1. Overview

This dataset is a collection of records from a great variety of sources, collating information which is not suitable for inclusion in other datasets. Records relate to employment, clubs and society membership, residence, land ownership, and many other categories.

This documentation does not attempt to describe each group, but singles out those which may require further clarification, both to source and the content and meaning of some fields. Many groups, have no additional documentation.

This collection lists deaths which were reported in newspapers, gazettes, books, etc. but where the death of the same person was not registered (although it may have been registered under a different name). Source: extracted from the index books originally stored at the Lands Title Office. Coverage: 1915 to 1954, limited coverage 1891 to 1914, 1956 to 1975.

The records have been processed so that both the 'from' and 'to' names appear in the normal name fields, i.e., there are at least 2 records per name change. The other names appear in the Notes field, as either "Changed to:" or "Changed from:". For each name change there were originally 2 records: a 'change from' and a 'change to' record, which should have contained identical information. Unfortunately, due to uncertainty in the transcriptions this was often not the case, resulting in many alternatives in the indexes.

In addition:

- Where there are alternative surnames, additional records have been added.
- Where there are alternative given names, these are indicated as alternatives (e.g., "John/Jon") or as uncertainties (e.g., "John? Richard").

In most cases it will be necessary to view the relevant Police Gazette to get value from the reference, and page numbers (and photo numbers) are provided for this purpose. Digital copies of the Police Gazette can be viewed at the Genealogy SA Library. They are also online at Ancestry.

The South Australian Police Gazette database has been compiled from the printed Indexes as published in each volume of the Police Gazettes. Some obvious errors have been corrected. However, in most cases the original text has not been checked. The assistance of the SA Police Historical Society in providing the Police Gazette volumes is gratefully acknowledged.

The Event field contains a summary of the types or articles and/or events referenced - occasionally this is extended into Notes when there is a large number of events. Source2 contains the corresponding page numbers. The events and pages are both generally in chronological order of publication, but the user is warned that they often do not correspond 1:1.

Parliamentary papers include reports from government departments, Royal Commissions, Committees of Inquiry and other documents which have been presented to a Parliament and then ordered by Parliament to be printed.

The records provided in these groups are those persons referred to in the paper.

Many of these papers result in groups of records which are relatively small (often <100 records), and the groups are often difficult to categorise. The policy here is to have a Set for Parliamentary Papers and only store them in different Sets if there is some real value in doing so (e.g. Railway Employees).
