

Message from Genealogy SA Council

This is an important, albeit long, communication - please read it all carefully.

SAGHS Council has taken the decision that given the age profile and vulnerability of our members to viruses such as the Coronavirus, the Genealogy SA Library will be closed from 5pm 18 March 2020 until further notice.

In the meantime, researchers CAN, and are encouraged to, continue to access the Catalogue, Database Search, other online resources via our website, and can email or phone enquiries via saghs.admin@saghs.org.au or phone 08 8272 4222.

For new membership and renewals please contact saghs.members@saghs.org.au or phone 08 8272 4222.

Also, as previously announced, Special Interest Groups, courses and seminars will be postponed for the foreseeable future. This will be reviewed after Easter when a decision will be made on whether to extend the cancellations for a further period.

You will appreciate the Society's concern for your welfare as it tries to reduce your possible exposure via large gatherings of people with whom you may be in close contact. The Council and staff hope that all our members are able to stay well and safe, enjoy the extra time researching and finding out more about your ancestors and their families and we will see you all healthy again in a few weeks. Please check the website for updates and news from SAGHS beginning Monday 16th March 2020.

Please take care of yourselves, your family and friends.
